My brothers and sisters in Christ,

Happy Mother's Day! Below is an article by a mother testifying to the beauty and challenges of being a mother. Let us strive to do all we can for all mothers by first praying for them today and everyday. Dear mothers, thank you for giving us life. – Fr. Michael

The Problem With Linking Abortion and Economics

In recent days, Senator Bernie Sanders has come under fire for appearing at a campaign stop with Heath Mello, a mayoral candidate in Omaha who voted for anti-abortion legislation as a Nebraska state senator. Mr. Sanders said he supported Mr. Mello's progressive economic positions, but critics said abortion and economics were inextricable – that women on the margins need abortion so that they can scramble up the economic ladder without children holding them back.

“Abortion rights are a key pillar of income equality,” writes Ellen Shaffer at the Center for Policy Analysis. “Opposition to abortion rights is a key factor keeping women and kids in poverty.” Another commentator asserts that lack of abortion access is “one of the biggest contributors to the gender wage gap.”

Activists see a lot of appeal in this argument, a way to bridge the gap between liberal women and economic populists. But it comes with enormous baggage. Above all, it's a profoundly dehumanizing argument. It reduces mothers and their children to mere economic objects, and amounts to saying we are justified in killing those who impede our economic progress. Parenting presents undeniable challenges, but no one argues that those challenges give parents the right to kill their children.

It's also patronizing, and patently dishonest. Of course unplanned pregnancy presents challenges. But it doesn't have to lead to economic failure. Abortion is society's easy way out – its way of avoiding grappling with the fundamental injustices driving women to abortion clinics.

I know, because that's my story, and the story of countless mothers I have helped confront similar challenges.

When I became pregnant at the beginning of my senior year in high school, my community pressured me to abort. I grew up in a single-parent, working-class family that barely had the resources to send me to college. Doing that, and helping me raise a child, seemed out of the question. Feeling that a birth would make a mess of my future, I scheduled an abortion. I asked a close friend to drive me to the appointment. This woman had been in the same situation just months before and, without much contemplation, aborted her child. Weeping, she explained how she was depressed and had considered suicide. She begged me to cancel the appointment, and I did.

I moved to a maternity home, took parenting classes and got tutoring to complete high school. I graduated with my class three weeks after my son was born, and I began taking courses at a community college. When my sister, who was caring for my son, moved out of state, I left school to work full time. I eventually worked my way up the ladder at an investment firm, married and had two more children. While my time as a single parent was not easy, we got by, and today my life is nothing like the one predicted by that chorus of pessimism 29 years ago.

Obviously, not every woman will be as lucky as I was, with a strong network of family and friends to help. But that's why we as a society have an obligation to help them. For the past 17 years, I have worked at organizations that do just that.

Many of the women I have encountered believe they have no choice but to abort: Many tell me they would rather give birth, but they believe the complex, difficult circumstances of their lives – like joblessness, substance abuse, criminal records or homelessness – leave them with no real way to raise a new child. They want an abortion, as the anti-abortion writer Frederica Mathewes-Green says, “as an animal, caught in a trap, wants to gnaw off its own leg.”

Abortion addresses only a symptom of these women's problems. An abortion clinic, for a few hundred dollars, ends the life of a child whose upbringing may strain her mother's resources. Full stop. The woman will leave the clinic still burdened by every single problem she came in with.

There are better solutions; they just require more creativity and more effort. Organizations like mine can help women find jobs, enter substance abuse treatment programs, regain their children from foster care, find housing, pay utility bills and sign up for government benefits.

Such efforts require a community commitment. We recently had a client whose husband needed a car to get to work. A donor sold her car at a steep discount, another donor purchased it for the client, and a third paid for six months of car insurance.

We should all agree, whether anti-abortion or pro-choice, that abortion is not a solution to the host of systemic injustices driving poverty. Progressives cannot continue to claim every effort to reduce abortion is anti-woman and will lead to ruin and disaster. And conservatives must do more than tell abortion-seeking women to “go in peace and keep warm and well fed”; they must sacrifice their time and treasure to serve women in need.

We cannot allow the real, complex needs of abortion-seeking women to get lost in today's polarized abortion debate. Our society must not settle for leaving women who face unplanned pregnancy no hope but abortion.

SAINT MARY PARISH

NEW PRIEST

Next Saturday, Deacon Godfrey Musabe, a member of the Uganda Catholic Community of Boston and Saint Mary's, will be the first Ugandan-born priest ordained for the Archdiocese of Boston. Eight men will be ordained to the Priesthood by Cardinal O'Malley at Immaculate Conception Church in Lowell. (The Cathedral is closed for renovations). Deacon Godfrey is a great young man. We wish him a wonderful day and many years of service and ministry. A number of his family members have come from Africa and are staying at the St. Charles Parish Center. We invite everyone from St. Charles and St. Mary's to attend Father Godfrey's First Mass of Thanksgiving as a priest next Sunday, May 21 at 1:30 p.m. at Saint Mary's. Please come.

HOLY HOUR FOR NEW PRIESTS

A Holy Hour of Eucharistic Adoration for the new priests will take place at St. John's Seminary Chapel on Friday May 19 at 7:00 p.m. The address is 127 Lake St. in Brighton. Everyone is invited and encouraged to come pray for the men to be ordained the next day.

PRAYER INTENTIONS REQUESTED

Father Michael Nolan is leading a pilgrimage for young people to the Holy Land this week. They are gladly accepting prayer intentions for the trip. If you have names of people or specific intentions you can send them to him via the parish email or give them to him personally. We ask that you pray for a successful trip for them.

PRAYER SHAWL MINISTRY

The next meeting of the Prayer Shawl Ministry is Saturday, May 20 at 2:30 at St. Mary Apartments. The members knit or crochet shawls that are given to persons who are ill or experiencing crisis. The group also prays for the recipients of these shawls. All are welcome. For more information, please contact Mary Alice McMahon at 781-899-9726.

WITNESS FROM A PARISHIONER

The months of March and April were a challenge for me. I had an accident at home and fractured my fibula. The doctors said I needed surgery. On March 30, I was anointed by Father Michael Nolan. My surgery was scheduled for the next day at Mount Auburn Hospital. I arrived and was prepared for surgery... with the IV in my arm and the blood pressure cuff on... I was ready to go to La La Land. Then Dr. Thomas Burke, my orthopedic surgeon, introduced himself. He looked at me and said, "You do not need surgery!" This was truly a miracle and blessing. Thank you for your prayers and support. God is good! – Linda LeBlanc

BIRTHRIGHT CARNATIONS

This weekend, Birthright of Framingham will have carnations for sale following the Masses at St. Mary's. This is the primary fundraising event held by Birthright. ST. VINCENT DE PAUL

In the Gospel today, Jesus says "...whoever believes in me will do the works that I do, and will do greater ones than these, because I am going to the Father."

Through your almsgiving you are performing a good work; far greater than you think. Your donation placed in the St. Vincent de Paul Poor Box brings Christ's love and compassion to the poor. Happy Mother's Day to all our loving mothers who taught us how to love.

Risen Lord, your resurrection brought joy to all believers, give joy to those who live in sadness. Risen Lord, your resurrection brought hope to all believers, give hope to those who live in despair. Risen Lord, your resurrection formed a community of believers, give us true love for one another. Risen Lord, you are one with your Church on earth, hear our prayers for all those in need. Amen.

TE GUSTARIA SER LECTOR DURANTE LA MISA O SERVIR COMO MINISTRO DE COMUNION?

Cada año en este tiempo nos gusta invitar a los miembros de la parroquia a convertirse en Lectores y Ministros de la Comunión. Los Lectores proclaman la Palabra de Dios en la Misa...es un servicio hermoso para un católico difundir la Palabra de Dios y traer a Jesús a los que tienen hambre y sed del Señor. Habrá sesiones de entrenamiento para ambos Ministerios. Para poder realizar este apostolado tienes que haber recibido el Sacramento de Confirmación, y sobre todo Amar al Señor, a su Iglesia y al prójimo, seguir las enseñanzas y los mandamientos de Dios; estar disponible para servir una vez al mes en promedio... pero no tienes que ser perfecto o incluso digno ...porque ninguno de nosotros es digno... ni siquiera los sacerdotes y porque ninguno de nosotros es digno de recibirlo, por eso decimos estas bellas palabras: "Señor, no soy digno de que entres a mi casa pero una palabra tuya bastara para sanarme"... Si Jesús nos deja recibirlo... entonces él también nos permite llevarlo a otros. Si tu tienes interés o preguntas por favor habla con uno de los sacerdotes.

OFERTORIO

Gracias por su generosa ofrenda a nuestra parroquia.
